MESSAGE FROM THE CEO

"...we are living
our mission
each day..."

Strength.

At Epworth we talk a lot about strength: strong youth, strong families, strong community. It is our vision. Each day, our 230+ employees strive to live our mission by helping youth and families find their own strength.

In 2013, our programs and services reached over 7,500 people in St. Louis and the surrounding communities. As CEO of Epworth, I can attest this proves we are living our mission each day and it is evidenced by our successes over the past year.

AWARDS – Top Workplace Award from the Post-Dispatch

STAFF – Workplace safety program was recognized by Missouri Employers Mutual

PROGRAMS – Doubled our HHS Family and Youth Services Bureau RHY grant through 2016

LEADERSHIP – A merger with Progressive Youth Connection proved a 100% retention rate

DEVELOPMENT – It was a record-breaking year for funds raised and community engagement

FACILITIES – Acquired & renovated new 15,000 square foot building in Normandy

ADVOCACY – Establishment of statewide older youth summits for 2013-2014

Looking ahead, we want to continue the growth we have seen over the past few years. We strive to be stronger as individuals, stronger as an agency and stronger as a community, so we can build the futures of those around us.

As you read through the pages of our annual report, please remember – Epworth, and the community we serve, would not be as strong if it weren't for the support of our staff, board, volunteers, donors and community partners.

Thank you to each and every one of you,

Kevin Drollinger
Chief Executive Officer

SUCCESS STORY

Strong people.

For Christy Phelps, finding her strength and independence began at an age when most girls are getting their ears pierced or going to sleepovers.

At age thirteen, Christy learned she was pregnant and turned to her mother for support. Unwilling to deal with her daughter's situation, Christy's mother took her to Epworth's Youth Emergency Services (YES) shelter in University City and drove away.

It was at YES where Christy first began to trust those around her. The staff helped her to grow into her maturity and fostered her sense of independence. As she matured, her personal strength continued to grow. She learned how to sew to focus her mind and soon gave birth to a healthy baby boy – Terrence.

Christy went on to marry her son's father and move to Alabama where they had two more boys – Thaddeus and Theodore. Christy spent the next few decades being the source of strength for her family – raising her boys, supporting her husband's career and working through nursing school.

It was during the painful divorce from her husband that Christy returned to St. Louis to reestablish her independence. She worked several jobs, supported her three sons through college and would turn to sewing – the skill she learned as a teenager – as a way to calm herself from the day's stressors.

Feeling settled back in St. Louis, Christy began thinking about her days at the YES shelter. She wondered if it was still there, still how she remembered it. She had many memories of YES – walking to the gas station, relaxing in the backyard, and her most vivid memory, the wooden twin beds she slept on. After searching the now-unfamiliar neighborhood, Christy went online to see if she could find the place she temporarily called home. It wasn't long before she found Epworth Children & Family Services.

Christy wanted to give back to the place that had given her so much and began volunteering to mentor residential youth. She wanted to share her story and teach them how to sew – the skill she had learned so long ago. When she learned YES was still at the same location, she jumped at the chance to take a tour with the child she had been pregnant with during her stay over 25 years ago.

When Christy and Terrence pulled up to the building, it was obvious that it was unfamiliar to her. Christy seemed nervous, anxious. Had her memories deceived her? Was this really the place? As the tour continued to the backyard – now paved with a patio – the memory of relaxing on the grass did not match the new, hard surroundings. They entered the first floor offices, and Christy noted...“This used to be a patio. There is much more security now.” The stairs provided a familiar landmark, but much had changed. Again, she was confused – was this really the place?

“Past hardships make your life today...better.”

Christy Phelps

As she walked down the long, dark hall and entered a bedroom at the back of the building, her face lit with emotion. Shock, fear, exhaustion, appreciation and happiness filled the tears that streamed down her face. The bedroom, filled with basic necessities, purple bedding, brightly colored wall murals and those wooden twin beds made her past a reality. To keep from collapsing, Christy leaned on her son who, since even before he was born, has been her source of strength.

VOLUNTEERS

Strong hearts.

For as long as he can remember, Reverend Adam Mustoe has loved working with children. He has dedicated nearly ten years of his life to being a leader at Living Word United Methodist Church. When Adam sought volunteer opportunities that would incorporate his love for God with the desire to help people, a long-time friend recommended he look into Epworth Children & Family Services.

Beginning in 2009, Adam became involved in the Residential & Intensive Treatment program. This program provides a safe and stable living environment while youth work through emotional and behavioral issues that often stem from a history of abuse or neglect. Knowing that, Adam strives to be a positive and consistent presence and positive adult role model for the kids he works with.

"The most rewarding feeling is when a kid lets you know how much they appreciate you," says Adam. "The children at Epworth have been conditioned to create an exterior and not show emotion, and when I break through those walls, I am instantly moved."

One of Adam's volunteering duties includes leading a Chapel Service one Sunday a month. He and fellow volunteers provide consistent spiritual guidance through Bible study, music and prayer.

"When I get to integrate music with helping these children..., they instantly brighten up and exude happiness," says Adam. "This creation of a fun atmosphere is the reason I do what I do."

Adam sees it as his goal in life is to reach beyond his own family to those children who could use another strong adult in their lives.

"I am so grateful that God lead me to this path of helping the children and families of Epworth," says Adam. "Epworth's volunteers and staff will continue to build on the individual strengths of youth and families, helping them to be successful."

Volunteers are essential to Epworth's success. Thank you to all of our volunteers for your many hours of service.
